A Shared Calling, A Shared Burden: How Professionals can Serve Families Seamlessly and Avoid Burnout

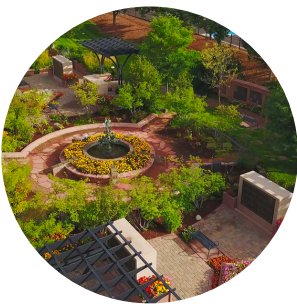

An Educational Presentation from Dr. Jason Troyer

About the Program:

Hospice professionals, healthcare professionals, therapists, companions, first responders, clergy, and funeral professionals all share many of the same career-related stressors and an increased risk of burnout. In this interactive workshop, Dr. Troyer provides strategies for reducing compassion fatigue and burnout. He also addresses many of the myths and concerns related to each profession and facilitates discussion about how families can be served seamlessly.

HORAN & MCCONATY OPEN HOUSE:

Knowing what to expect from a funeral home will improve outcomes for families and reduce commonly expressed fears, anxiety and stressors. Tour facilities, get answers to frequently asked questions and learn about what happens at the funeral home.
